

The Architectural Paradox

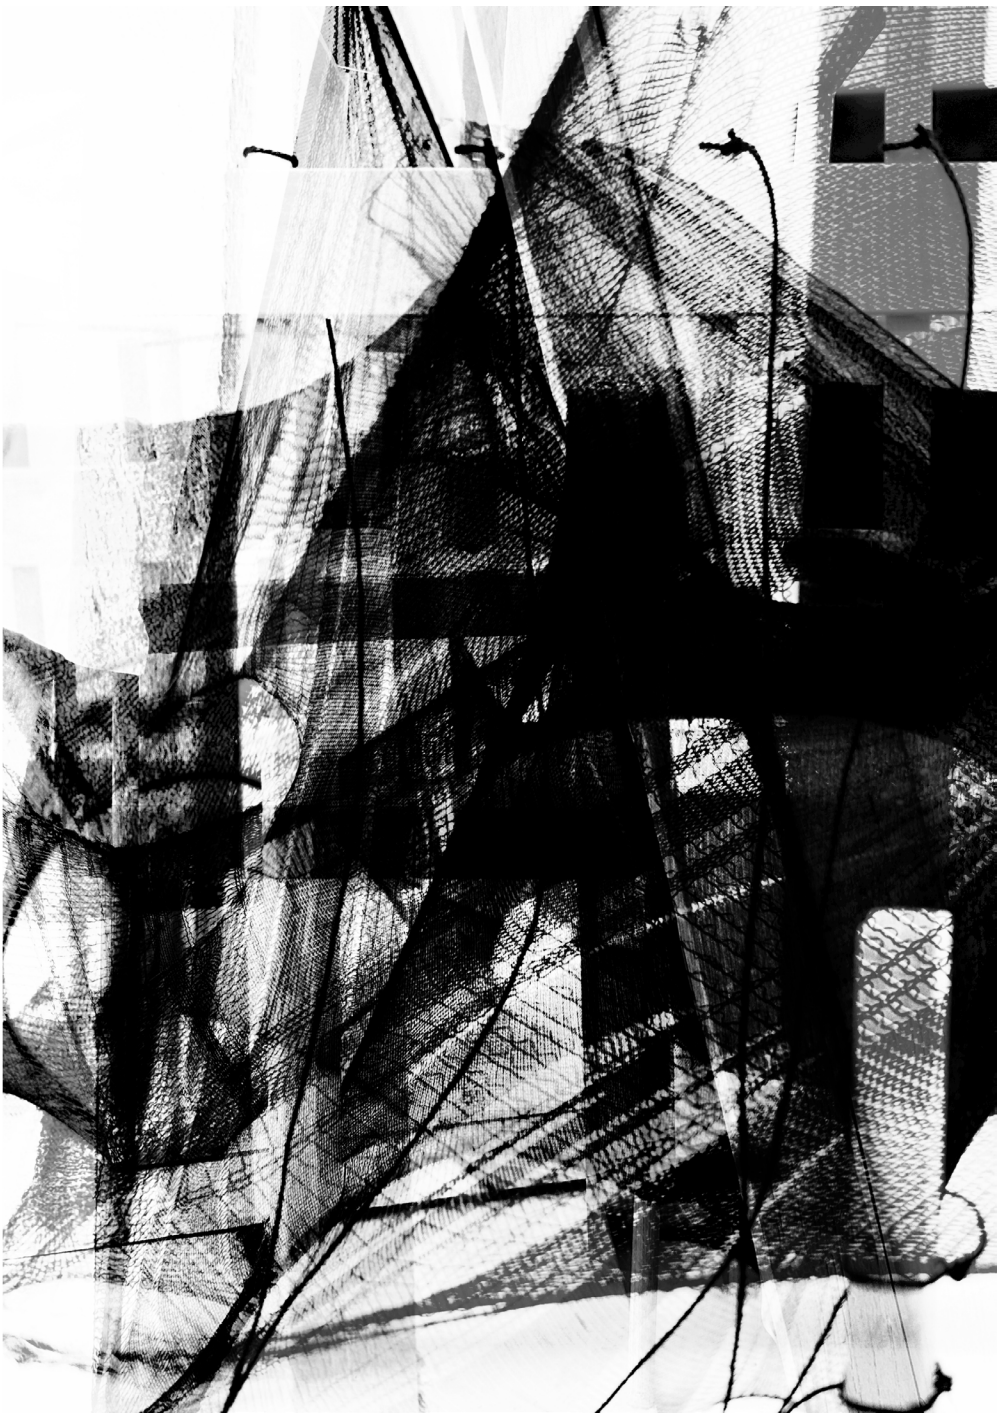

Mixed Media collage (digital modelling, free hand drawing and found images).
The Architectural Paradox is a collage exploring the synergy between chaos and harmony. Following the development of a cut-up text that envisioned the building a few years after its redesign, this collage employs a range of media to explore how harmony might be deconstructed, fragmented, and redefined within spatial contexts.
Can chaos co-exist with harmony

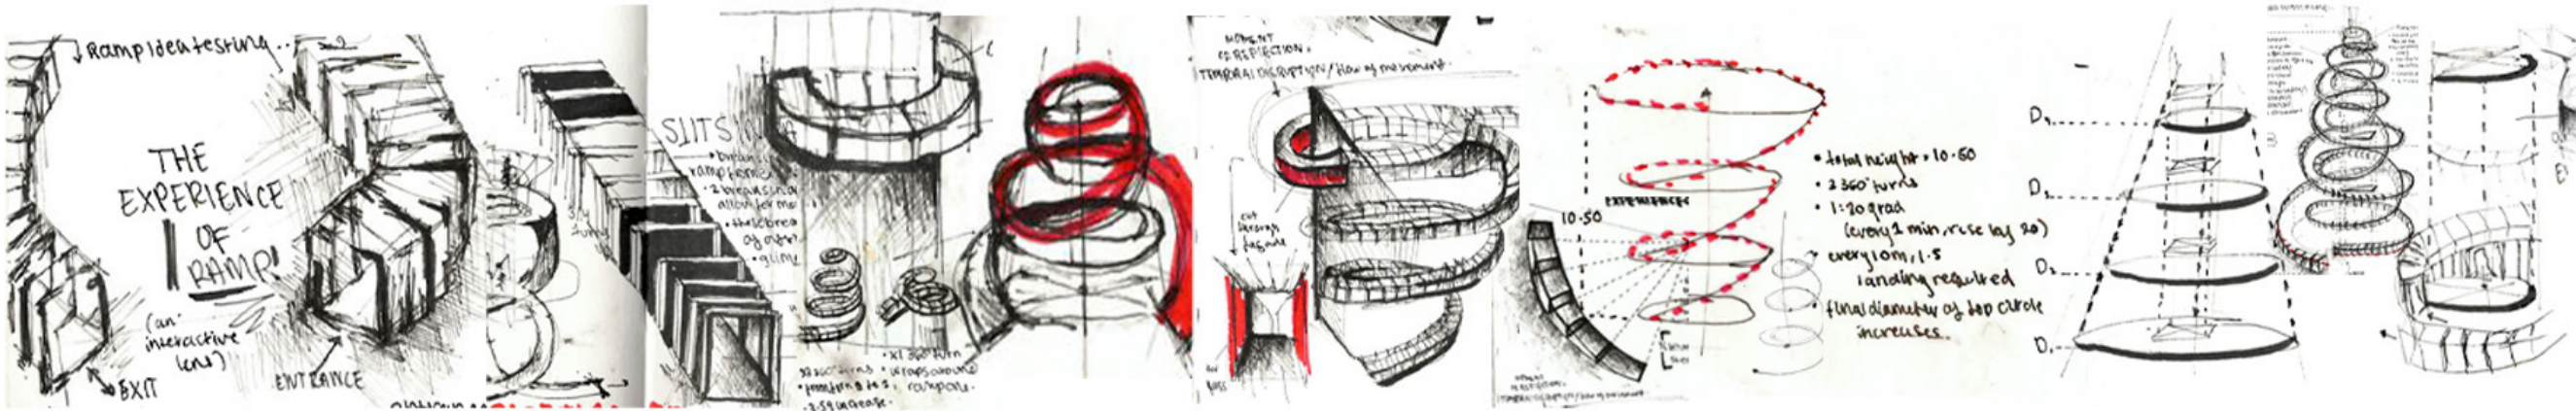

Organic form vs surrealist deconstruction.

Establishing a Spatial Language:
Photographing stretched net over wood

Exploring the twist to develop the spiral into a structured architectural ascent: Sketches

Exploring the intertwining of spiral passages through the collaging of individual sketches.

Establishing with Constructed Space: Combining speed modelling photography with found images to create individual moments
