

Casa Alcazar

LUXURY RURAL HOTEL

A place to slow down, to breathe, to belong in Benizar.

RENDER OF THE HOTEL ENTRANCE AREA

Casa Alcázar is a boutique rural hotel nestled in the natural landscape of Benizar (Spain). Inspired by personal heritage, the project reimagines the countryside not as a place left behind, but as a space to return to. Through its local heritage with timeless interior design, the design creates a tactile guest experience shaped by textures, rhythms, and light, which is inviting to slow down, feel deeply, and to reconnect — with oneself, nature and the silences of rural life.

IMAGE OF THE ACTUAL HOUSE FROM A PERSPECTIVE VIEW

These concepts were born from a poem I wrote during one of my visits to the site, inspired by the serenity of the landscape and the emotional power of its views. I wanted to translate those sensations — the stillness, the timeless beauty, the deep connection with nature — into the design of the space, so that anyone who visits can feel the same: that they have arrived at a place where time slows down and the soul can breathe.

The concept of nostalgia runs through the entire project like an invisible thread. For me, it represents a connection to my roots, to childhood memories, and most of all, to my grandparents. The image of them in their youth appears as a subtle tribute to those who are no longer here, yet remain ever-present with us. In many ways, this place is a way of reconnecting with them — of honouring their memory and inviting the visitor to feel that mix of melancholy, warmth, and belonging that comes from something deeply authentic.

RENDER OF HOTEL ROOM 101

This boutique hotel offers eight carefully designed double rooms, one of them fully accessible. Two of the rooms include private pools — a perfect hideaway for couples. As an experience, each morning, guests can enjoy an open-air breakfast with mountain views, featuring traditional Spanish flavours like homemade bread, sun-ripened tomatoes, and village-pressed olive oil — a true taste of the land. The design of the hotel reimagines the charm of traditional Spanish rural architecture, blending it with a modern, refined aesthetic — creating a space that feels both timeless but actual.

RENDER OF THE BALCONY'S DRINK CORNER

This is more than just a place to eat — it's an experience. The space is divided into three distinct areas. One is designed for groups, with marble tables and built-in grills for cooking meats together. Another sits under almond trees, offering a peaceful setting for couples and small gatherings. The bar and terrace come alive in the evening, with outdoor dining and a special drinks corner perfect for warm summer nights.

The Pool & Outdoor Space

The infinity pool transforms the landscape into a breathtaking backdrop, allowing guests to enjoy the view directly from the water. Built-in loungers offer a calming space to relax while partially immersed.

A new sunset bar enhances the experience, tying into the project's concept of nostalgia — quiet beauty and emotional connection. A gentle stream links the infinity and private pools, flowing through the BBQ and fire pit area, adding a romantic, natural touch to the outdoor space.
